Business Line of Credit (LOC)

Only Pay for What You Borrow

A business line of credit is a flexible financing option that allows businesses to borrow funds as needed, similar to a credit card. Interest is paid only on the borrowed amount, and funds can be used for various purposes like managing cash flow or covering unexpected expenses. Once repaid, the credit becomes available again making it a revolving form of credit that can be accessed repeatedly.

This flexible financing solution provides flexibility to access funds through ACH deposits into your business bank account, or onto a prepaid purchase card associated with your LOC account.

Flexible Repayment Options

Automatic daily, weekly or monthly payments are withdrawn from the business bank account, and the business only pays back the amount drawn plus any interest or other fees that may be charged.

Basic Criteria

Here is what you need to qualify for a Business Line of Credit (LOC):
